The platform adopted was as follows. We, the representatives of the democratic party of Missouri, in state convention assembled, do hereby reaffirm our allegiance to the time-honored principles of the democratic party, as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by Madison, Jackson and other great and illustrious democrats, and we believe that the interests of the people demand that these principles should be applied to the conduct of the federal government, and express our conviction that the prosperity of the people and the perpetuity of represe tative government depend upon their continued supremacy; declare in favor of equal rights to all, and special privileges to none; local self-government; the highest degree of personal liberty consistent with public good, and a strict construction of the federal constitution; condemn the use of federal troops in the states by the federal government for the suppression of donestic riot, no call being made for such troops by the regularly constitutes state authority, and are unalterably opposed to a government by injunction by the federal courts. The platform adopted was as follows state authority, and are unaiterable opposed to a government by injunction by the federal courts; that we favor the imposition of an income tax where by the wealth of the country may be made to bear its just proportion of the public burden. We denounce as un-American and un-democratic the system of travitors only American and un-democratic the system of taxation on consumption, only advocated by the republican party. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collectional power to impose and collection of such exact shall be limited to the necessiles of the government.

The democratic state convention in Sedalia was practically unanimous for free silver 16 to 1. Ex-Congressman W. H. Hatch, of Hannibal, was chairman and M. E. Benton permanent chairman.

A resolution instructing for Bland for president was presented by Governor Stone and unanimously adopted. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, The restoration of free bimetallic coinage as it existed in the United States prior to the so-called demonetization act of 1873 is to be the leading issue in the forthcoming national election; and,

Whereas, An honored citizen of this state is among the foremost advocates of bimetallism, not only in the United States, but in the world—his name being familiarly associated with silver coinage in every civilized nation upon the globe; and,

Whereas, He is a man of large public experience, familiar with all the phases of national affairs, and a gentleman whose character for integrity in the peer of any living man; therefore, be it.

The naked proposition is that the United States shall coin, at the public expense, for the exclusive benefit of the individuals and corporations owning the bullion, all the silver that may be presented at the mints into dollars containing $71\frac{1}{4}$ grains of pure silver, or $412\frac{4}{4}$ grains of standard silver, worth intrinsically about 1 or 2 cents, deliver the coins to the depositors of the bullion, and compel all the other people in the country to receive these coins at the valuation of 100 cents each in the payment of debts due them for property sold, for labor and service of all kinds, for pensions to soldiers and salors and their widows and children, for losses sustained under policies issued by life and other insurance companies, for deposits in saving banks, such by life and other insurance com-panies, for deposits in saving banks, trust companies, building associations and other institutions, for debts due to widows and orphans by guardians, executors and administrators of deced-ents' estates and other trustees, for sal-aries of all civil, military and mayal aries of an etvil, military and navail officials, and the compensation of private soldiers and seamen, and, in short, for every kind of obligation recognized by the laws of the land, except only in cases where the prudent capitalist has taken the precaution in advance to contract for payment in gold or its equivalent.

vance to contract for payment in gold or its equivalent.

To say nothing of the gross partiality and manifest injustice of such a policy, its immediate effect would be to contract our currency to the extent of about 8620,000,000 by stopping the use of gold as money and putting a premium upon the coins of that metal equal, or about equal, to the difference between the intrinsic value of the gold dollar and the intrinsic value of the silver dollar.
